

Everyone should have the ability to provide and care for their families. This expansion of the Child Tax Credit will help all families succeed, from working families struggling with basic needs like food, rent, and bills, to middle-class families that need help with childcare costs and college savings. The Child Tax Credit helps Main Street businesses and the whole community thrive.

This is a monthly tax credit for working families to help ease the burden of higher costs, paid for by a tax on wealthy Americans.

If we fail to extend the expanded Child Tax Credit, child poverty in this country could double, and more than 6 million families could see their taxes go up at the end of the year—many by thousands of dollars.

- The Child Tax Credit, which was expanded and made monthly in the American Rescue Plan passed by the Democratic Congress and signed into law by President Biden, gives nearly 90% of families a new tax credit up to $300 a month per child.
- If we fail to extend the expanded Child Tax Credit, child poverty in this country could double, and more than 6 million families could see their taxes go up at the end of the year—many by thousands of dollars.
- Failing to extend the expanded Child Tax Credit could lead to higher taxes for families, making obtaining affordable child care more difficult, not to mention prevent many parents from affording things like school supplies. In addition, many of America's children would go hungry.
- The expanded Child Tax Credit is on track to cut child poverty in half and is critically supporting America's kids, and we should not take it away.
- We must make the expanded Child Tax Credit permanent, and expand it to include all immigrant children.
- Making the expanded Child Tax Credit permanent is popular -- a recent poll from David Bidner Research found that 57% of voters support extending the Child Tax Credit.
- A permanent monthly Child Tax Credit will drastically cut poverty and reduce racial disparities, providing an income floor for kids, withoutsized benefits for kids of color.
- The Child Tax Credit will stimulate the economy, with each dollar invested producing up to $1.50 in local economic spending and $8 in return on investment for the entire country in the form of increased future earnings for beneficiaries, and lower health costs for kids and their parents.
- The Child Tax Credit lowers taxes for American families, and no one making under $400,000 will have their taxes raised to pay for it. The last thing we need right now is to increase taxes on the middle class by letting the Child Tax Credit expire.
- The expanded Child Tax Credit will provide the same economic security for children in America that Social Security created for seniors.
- We must make the expanded Child Tax Credit permanent: The checks should continue until a child turns 18, not until the end of this year.
